

To the Bookseller:

Why A Widow's Awakening should be in your bookstore

- “ I got home Friday night and was going to “start” the book – well, I didn’t put it down till I finished!! Thank you for sharing.” Sherry W, Calgary, AB
- “ All I can say after devouring your book in twenty-four hours (which I have not done in three years!) is that you could see me reading it in bed, on the seabus, on the couch...it is wildly energetic and honest and authentic and funny and real. I loved it...incredibly heartbreaking but life affirming at the same time.” Alex C, North Vancouver, BC
- “ My heart is beating harder and my breathing shorter. I am hugging my husband tighter and kissing him longer. I have burnt supper while reading! I have read books until wee hours of the night but I have not felt this much about a book before”. Kim Williamson, Bragg Creek, Alberta

A Widow's Awakening...the book readers can't put down

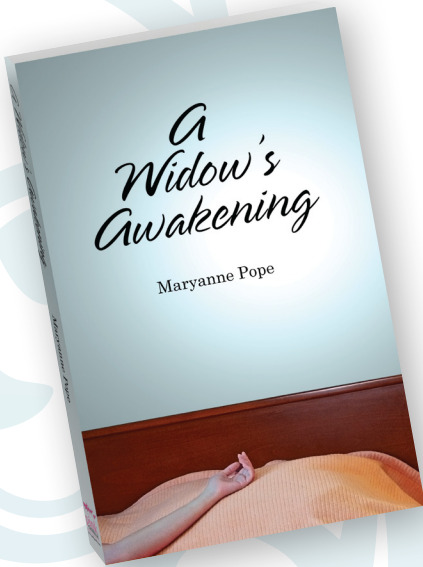

With over 1000 copies already sold, this extraordinary story of soul mates, saints, saviours, suicide and safety in the workplace is taking readers on an unforgettable journey. Based on the true story of a young woman coming to terms with the on-duty death of her police officer husband, this heart wrenchingly honest, and at times humorous, account inspires and challenges the reader to ‘wake up’ and look at their own life in a new way.

A hit with the general reader, this creative non-fiction book is also suitable for readers interested in: biography, grief, depression, death and dying, self help, psychology, overcoming adversity, workplace safety, emergency services, spirituality, religion, feminism and the environment.

20% of the proceeds go to the John Petropoulos Memorial Fund (JPMF), an organization started in memory of the author’s husband. The JPMF strives to prevent preventable workplace injuries and fatalities to emergency services personnel.
